

SALT 21 Proceedings

Publication rights form

Author(s): Micha Y. Breakstone, Alexandre Cremers, Danny Fox & Martin Hackl

Title: On The Analysis of Scope Ambiguities in Comparative Constructions: Converging Evidence from Real-Time Language Processing and Offline Data

Copyright year: 2011

The author(s) grant to the Cornell University Department of Linguistics and eLanguage nonexclusive rights to publish the above paper in print and electronic form. The author(s) warrant that this paper is the original work of the author(s), does not infringe any rights of others, and that the author(s) have the right to grant these publication rights. No matter by other authors has been included except by written permission of the owner of copyright of that matter. Copyright of this paper is retained by the author(s).

Signature(s) and date: _____

Micha Y. Breakstone,
On behalf of all the co-authors _____
Aug. 12th 2011

Please return to:

mail: Cornell University Department of Linguistics
Attn: SALT 21 Proceedings
203 Morrill Hall
Ithaca, NY 14853-4701
USA
fax: (607) 255-2044
email: salt-mailbox@cornell.edu